FINISHING TOUCHES

THESE CLEVER IDEAS AND ADD-ONS WILL GIVE ANY OUTDOOR KITCHEN A LITTLE SOMETHING EXTRA IN THE ENTERTAINING DEPARTMENT.

WE'LL DRINK TO THAT

If a full kitchen isn't in the cards, consider the next best thing: a wet bar. This modern example, by Los Angeles design collective Commune, features a sleek bar that seamlessly blends into the deckwork, giving dining alfresco a fun, resort-like feel.

A built-in tap draws from the keg inside

The mobile design lets it follow the party

WHAT'S ON TAP

These days, a keg party is more likely to mean sophisticated craft beer than the good old college try — which means it's time to upgrade your cooler to match. 24" Marvel Outdoor single tap draft beer dispenser. $2,599. At Aga Marvel.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE

Serious smoking power (and flavour) in a compact package. The Chubby charcoal smoker by Backwoods. $1,299. Through Great Canadian BBQ Store.

Warming Trend

CREATE AN ALL-SEASON OUTDOOR SPACE BY ADDING A GOOD-LOOKING HEATER.

▲ BUILT-IN Tucks neatly into a ceiling line. Stainless steel electric heater for under pavilion. $199. At Hauser.

> FREESTANDING

A sculptural stand. Cylindrical electric patio heater. Approx. $620. Through AllModern.

SINK OR SWIM

This new indoor-outdoor sink is ideal for big backyard parties. It multitasks like a pro, thanks to a choice of customizable inserts, like cutting boards, condiment storage and an ice bucket. The Galley 84" Workstation. From $8,995. At Ginger's.
