additional star power. The glass is very durable, easy to clean and perfect for a high-top bar or countertop with bar stools, says Downing, who with his team of skilled craftsmen fabricates everything onsite at the firm's downtown Tampa location. "We have one standing order—make it beautiful," says Downing.

Nancy Braamse of Olde World Cabinetry finds that exotic wood countertops in American Cherry, Black Walnut, Wenge and reclaimed woods are in high demand right now. "They give the kitchen a warm, inviting look and it's more comfortable to pull up a barstool and lean against a wood surface than granite," says Braamse. A Waterlox resin varnish ensures that the wood is protected.

SINKS

The Galley is the new "multi-tasking" sink everyone is talking about. "It's a really different setup that can be up to six feet long to accommodate a variety of options, including cutting board, colanders, condiment trays, and ice buckets, in addition to the sink," says Nancy Braamse of Old World Cabinetry. "It's the perfect solution for two people who enjoy cooking together and want to be working at the sink at the same time."

Innovation, technology and convenience are helping set the stage for the luxury kitchen of your dreams.
